

A floor plan of a room. The room is roughly rectangular. At the bottom, there is a raised platform labeled "Stage". The platform has a central section that is wider and slightly higher than the side sections. Above the stage, there is a large open area. In the top-left corner of this area, there is a small rectangular box labeled "Sound". On the right side of the room, there is a doorway with a door that is slightly ajar. The walls are represented by thick black lines. The floor is white.

Sound

Stage